

22 Students from the Ghana at Northwestern

A A A

Kellogg School of Management

University of Ghana: The Ghana Policy Research Lab (GPLR) engages researchers from the Kellogg School of Management and the Ghana Center for Entrepreneurship and Innovation (GCEI) to conduct research on Ghana's economic development. The research focuses on the impact of digital technology on the informal sector, the role of women in entrepreneurship, and the impact of climate change on small businesses. The research is conducted in partnership with the Ghana Center for Entrepreneurship and Innovation (GCEI) and the Ghana Policy Research Lab (GPLR).

Weinberg College of Arts and Sciences

University of Ghana: Center for African Studies